

SP AusNet 2009 Baw Baw Business Excellence Awards

2009 was a stellar year for Flavorite. After some quite substantial changes in personnel and modes of operation, production of real quality tomatoes reached levels not attained previously.

More importantly the young Management Team, Chris and Will Millis in Production, Mike Nichol in Sales and Jim Ilgoutz in Admin have done a great job in taking the business over and making it work much more professionally.

After 20 years in business it was good to see Flavorite recognised for its achievements.

In December Flavorite was the winner of the SP AusNet Commonwealth Bank Agribusiness Award, recognising general business excellence and community commitment.

Earlier in the year, Mark Millis won the AHGA Biannual Award for "Outstanding Contribution to the Australian Hydroponics and Greenhouse Industry". While this award had Mark's name on it this Award belongs to Flavorite, to Warren Nichol and Mark Millis and family members Chris and Will Millis, Mike Nichol who have expended so much energy and effort for the benefit of the whole industry.

Flavorite has an ongoing commitment to the development and expansion of the hydroponic industry in Australia, to the introduction of new greenhouse technology, new methods of production and new products to ensure the future sustainability of our industry from production, through retail to consumer. Our product has never been better, our focus is our customer.

Flavorite you had a good year!

Yours,

Mark Millis
